Continuing onwards enjoy a stop in the town of Ollantaytambo and view the impressive terraced remains of its ancient Sun Temple and marvel at the town's original street plan and foundations, which were designed by the Incas thousands of years prior. Afterwards continue onwards to the trailhead which begins at kilometre 82, near the village of Piscacucho. Here you will meet your camp staff and the Quechua Indian porters and the hiking journey begins. Whilst walking all your camping equipment (excluding sleeping bag) is carried by the porters. All camp chores are done for you and delicious food is provided daily by the cooks.

The first day is relatively easy and you will start by following a relatively level trail winding above the Urubamba River as the fertile valley narrows into a rugged gorge. You will hike through a desert-like environment interspersed with cacti and interesting flowering plants before reaching the Inca ruins of Llactapata (2550m). Here you can admire an immense and complex system of platforms/cultivation terraces, dedicated since ancestral times to the cultivation of food at more than 2,800m of altitude. Continue onwards and begin an uphill ascent with a gentle gradient passing fields and the Inca terraces of the Cusichaca River Valley. The snow-capped Mt. Veronica (5850m), the highest peak in the Urubamba range, looms silently behind you as you approach the village of Ayapata, a Quechua community built on original Inca foundations. Here you will find the camp ready for you upon arrival, and your dinner will be prepared whilst you unwind and soak up the amazing views all around. Temperatures at night are around 5°C. Please note, all campsites used during this track have toilet facilities but do not include shower facilities.

Day 6 Inca Trail: Ayapata Camp to Chaquicocha Camp

Today is the most challenging day of the trail, with a lot of vertical to gain! Start early this morning, and the trail becomes quite steep as you follow the narrow Llullucha Gorge leading up toward the highest pass of your journey. The switchbacks are well-marked, passing through a dense forest with abundant birdlife and flowering plants before topping out in the wide, open meadows of Llulluchapampa. Expansive views abound of the surrounding Andean peaks behind you and the highest pass of your route before you, Warmiwañusqa, at 4200m.

On the way up to the pass, you will see plenty of hummingbirds and other birdlife. You will have the time to appreciate the incredible variety of endemic native plants and trees such as the 'Polylepis' or Q'ueuña trees which grow in the astonishing cloud forest located at 3650m above sea level. Reaching the top, you will enjoy views of the rugged, glacier-clad Wiyañey peaks across the valley and the forested Pacaymayo Gorge on the other side. After a rest here, you will begin your descent to the lunch stop which is located at Pacaymayu (3550m). After lunch, begins the second steep climb of the day to the Runkuraqay pass (4000m) and then back down arriving at Chaquicocha Camp by early evening, where you will find your tents set up and dinner being prepared for another magic night in the mountains. Temperatures at this campsite are around

Day 7 Inca Trail: Chaquicocha Camp to Wiñay Wayna Camp

This is the most impressive day (in our opinion) so just keep thinking of that on the ascent. Wake up for breakfast at 6:00am and start the day with a gentle climb to visit the archaeological site of 'Phuyupatamarca' (meaning 'Town in the Clouds') and reach the third highest point on the trail (3680m). The views of the mountains, canyons and surrounding areas are spectacular! The Incan site of 'Phuyupatamarca', is located a few minutes walk from the third pass and after visiting this, you will continue walking (3000 steps) through the cloud forest and the impressive agricultural Incan site of 'Intipata' until you arrive at the third campsite Wiñay Wayna (2680m).

Today, your hiking time will only be about 4 to 5 hours and you will arrive at camp by lunchtime. A short distance from this campsite is located the Incan site of the same name 'Wiñay Wayna' ('Forever Young'). Even if you are tired after your day's trek, don't miss out on visiting one of the most impressive sites on the trail. Temperatures during the night are about 12° C.

Hiking Distance: Approximately 10km

Hiking Time: Approximately 4-5 hours

As the sun begins to rise, the dramatic views of Machu Picchu are revealed. Here you will spend some time taking photos then continue onwards to Machu Picchu itself. Enjoy a guided tour (approx. 2 hours) of the area. Afterwards, you are free to explore the mysterious city at leisure and then you can walk or take a short bus ride down (bus fare not included) to the nearby town of Aguas Calientes and meet your guide for lunch (not included). THE ITINERARY

Day 11 Puno - Lake Titicaca - Uros Islands - Traditional Homestay

After breakfast this morning, transfer from the hotel to the port of Puno, where you will board a motorboat to visit the unique floating Uros Islands on Lake Titicaca - approx. 25 minutes from the port of Puno.

The islands have been created entirely from the buoyant totora reeds that grow abundantly in the shallows of the lake. The reeds are used to build homes, boats and handicrafts. The islands are constructed from many layers of totora, which are constantly replenished from the top as they rot from the bottom; the ground is always soft and springy. You will visit two different islands and your guide will explain a little about the history and lifestyle of the people who have lived here for many years. You will have the opportunity to visit some of their homes to learn about their lifestyle.

Enjoy a trip to Taquile Island (approx. 2 hours). A traditional Quechua speaking community, the island is full of ancient agricultural terraces and some ruins dating from pre-Inca times. When you reach the island, take the opportunity to enjoy impressive views of Lake Titicaca. Take some free time to explore the Island on your own, and then come together for lunch at a local restaurant.

Following lunch, head down to the harbour to take a one-hour boat ride to the Chicuito Peninsula, south of the city of Puno, where the Luquina Karina community is located. Luquina Karina has remained relatively untouched and tourism is a new concept here. The inhabitants are very willing to receive visitors in their community. You will be warmly received by the families who will take you to their homes to spend the night and cook you a dinner from locally sourced food.

Overnight: Traditional Homestay, Luquina Island

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Lima:

Lima is usually described as mild and warm throughout the year without noteworthy rain making Lima one of the driest capitals in the world. The average temperatures range from 18°C to 28°C.

Cusco:

Cusco has a subtropical highland climate due to its elevation (3500m above sea level). It is generally dry and temperate, with two defined seasons. The dry season lasts from May to August, with abundant sunshine and occasional night time freezes; July is the coldest month with an average of 9.7°C. The wet season lasts from December to March, with night frost less common; November averages 13.3°C. Although frost and hail are common, the only snowfall ever recorded was in June 1911. Temperatures usually range from 0.2°C to 20.9°C

Puno: (Extension Package Only)

As Puno is located at such a high elevation (3830m above sea level), it experiences more extreme weather conditions than would be expected for its tropical latitude. The average annual temperature is about 8.4°C, and the weather never gets overly warm. During the winter months from June to August, night-time temperatures usually drop well below 0°C. At this high altitude, the rays of the sun are very strong. Most of the annual precipitation falls during the southern hemisphere summer, with the winter months being very dry.

FLIGHTS

Seat Selection & Frequent Flyer Points:

At TripADeal we do not arrange seat selection. It is important to highlight that some Airlines do not allow pre-selected seats. We strongly suggest you contact the Airline directly with seating allocation requirements and or arrive at the airport earlier to arrange your seating. While we do not add frequent flyer member details to bookings, you can do this directly with the Airline once you have your flight information.

Passport Validity:

Customers are required to provide valid passport details either at the time of purchase, or no later than 45 days prior to departure date. Failure to do so may result in cancellation of the booking. In this instance customers will be responsible for any costs and fees incurred.

Fitness Level Required / Mobility / Health :

Our vehicles are not equipped with wheelchair access, so, unfortunately, our tours are currently not suitable for wheelchair users and those less mobile.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Please note: A decent level of fitness will be required for this tour due to the Inca Trail component. You will be required to hike for 6-7 hours a day at high altitudes on well-formed hiking trails. If you haven't done a multi-day hike in the last 8 months, we recommend that you test drive your stamina with equipment on local hikes before you go.

This tour is not suitable for:

- Anyone who has difficulty walking, whether it be on flat surfaces or inclines.
- People over the age of 70 unless they are dedicated hikers at home.
- People with chronic health conditions that affect their mobility or activity level.
- Pregnant women should not hike as there are no medical services available near the trail.

Altitude illness occurs when there is a lack of oxygen in the air at high altitudes. Altitude illness will affect some travellers, with no apparent regard to age, gender or physical condition. If you have any concerns please consult your healthcare provider prior to purchase/travel.

You should consult your doctor for up-to-date medical travel information well before departure. We recommend that you carry a First Aid kit and hand sanitizers / antibacterial wipes as well as any personal medical requirements. Please be aware that during the Inca Trail Hike you will be in remote areas and away from medical facilities.

Please note: Inoculations may be required to enter the country visited, along with re-entry into Australia after your visit. It is your responsibility to consult with your travel doctor for up to date medical travel information well before departure. If you have any concerns please consult your healthcare provider prior to purchase/travel.

Yellow Fever:

A valid international certificate of vaccination against Yellow Fever is required in many countries. You may need to present this on arrival at the airport or border crossing. Some countries will refuse entry if you are unable to present your certificate. It's also quite common for your home country to request a Yellow Fever certificate on your arrival back home. It is your responsibility to check with your doctor well in advance of leaving home about the Yellow Fever requirements for the countries you'll be visiting.

Gratuities / Tipping:

Gratuities (tips) are not included in the tour price for services of the tour leader (when available) and driver throughout the tour. Tipping for transfer drivers is recommended at $1.50 USD (approx. $2 AUD) per transfer provided.

Inca Trail Tipping:

- Generally, on the Inca Trail, groups give collective tips that are shared between the cook and all porters and are usually given on the last night of the trek. If the group pools together money and at the end of the hike and each porter receives 60 soles (approx. $24 AUD) and the cook receives 120 soles (approx. $48AUD), they will end with a great tip! Often, the tip for your guide is done personally and is generally 50 soles (approx. $20 AUD) per traveller. Tipping is of course 100% voluntary and it should only be done if you feel that your guide, porters and cooks have done an amazing job. For reference, a group of 10 travellers will have 16 porters (including the cook) and 2 guides.

- Tipping for all services provided on tour is always a matter of personal discretion, however please be aware that tipping is considered by many locals to be a part of their normal remuneration and they may approach you for payment and there is no need to be intimidated by the request.

Sightseeing:

Please note: In the event entrance to a site is affected by changes in operating hours or public holiday closures, your itinerary where possible, will be adjusted or a similar activity will be offered in its place (subject to availability).

If paying by credit card, please pay close attention to the amount you are being charged and keep all of your receipts.

Do not make any purchases you are not comfortable with or feel pressured into. If you are uncertain or need assistance with the language barrier, please seek assistance from your Tour Guide/Leader.

VISAS

Please note: Passengers who are not Australian citizens must check with the respective consulate or visa agency to determine what their visa requirements are and what personal identification is required. It is also important to note, some areas of employment such as journalism, government authorities and charity organisations may have additional restrictions in applying for Visas.
